RUSSIAN CONSOLS DROPPED DOWN

Missing Vladivostok Fleet Is Discovered Way Up in Siberia--New Chang Is Now Under Martial Law.

Have Retaliated

Rome, March 29.—The Agenzia Libera reports that a portion of the Vladivostok squadron, the location of which was so long in doubt, has arrived at Nizhnevsk in Siberia at the mouth of the Amur river. Further reports state that the Russian army has left Harbin for Chang Chun.

Paris, March 29.—An article published yesterday, acknowledged that the Chinese will take a hand in the war in the far East. The events of 1900, he thinks, constitute a warning of which European statesmen should be mindful.

"For us who are China's neighbors," declares M. Hanotaux, "there must be no evading the fact that when this upheaval comes we are sure to be menaced. There is therefore but one thing to be done, and that is to prepare for eventualities. In Asia, as in Europe, everything is in suspense. It is all very well to flatter ourselves that war can be localized. A few weeks ago were also lulling ourselves with the statement that war could not actually occur."

"Since then events which might perhaps have been averted had been more fearful of the results have taken place, and I repeat that whatever may be the future, let us now get ready so that should the worst come we will be ready to face it."

Labor Crisis

Kobe, March 29.—The Hawaiian islands are threatened with a labor crisis because of the large numbers of Japanese laborers recalled to serve in the war. They are, however, likely to receive a supply from an unexpected source. Many Koreans with families are arriving here in wretched condition. They have lost work, owing to the military operations, and most of them are proceeding to Hawaii. The vessels sunk at the entrance to Port Arthur were the Fukuyuki maru, Chiyu maru, Yehiko maru and Toenzawa maru, all old and decrepit. They left Osaka at the beginning of the month for the purpose of sacrifice.

Editor Not a Traitor

Russians Gain by Delay.
London, March 29.—The correspondent of the Post at New Chang says: I learn on good authority that the Japanese will not land an expedition in the valley of the Lio river before April 20, as her transports are still occupied in conveying troops to Korea. Meanwhile the Russians are strengthening their position, especially the vulnerable right flank. Even Port Arthur is stronger than when the war began.

Cost Japs a Million Francs.
St. Petersburg, March 29.—An officer of the Russian general staff states that the four steamers used by the Japanese in their attempt of Sunday to close the entrance to Port Arthur harbor were all of modern construction and valued at not less than 1,000,000 francs.

The Russian officials have abandoned their optimistic attitude regarding the outcome of the first land engagements and now declare that the opening land engagements will be fought under difficulties. The Novo Vremya counsels patience and in a lengthy article states that a series of uninterrupted victories can hardly be expected.

Land Skirmish Near Anju.
London, March 29.—The correspondent of the Mail at Seoul cables under date of March 23: There has been an engagement between a force of Japanese infantry and Cossacks. The fighting was between Anju and Chong Fu. The Japanese were victorious. The Japanese loss was fifty killed. The Russian loss is unknown.

Jap at Chin Wang Tao.
Shan Hai Kwan, March 29.—The Japanese are making soundings at Chin Wang Tao, eight miles from here, with the intention of making a landing.

A Battle Fought.
London, March 29.—A dispatch dated at Seoul, on March 27, says an engagement occurred on March 23 between Japanese infantry and Cossacks at a place between Anju and Chongju. It resulted in a victory for the Japanese, who, however, lost fifty killed. The Russians retreated slowly. Their loss is unknown.

The foregoing dispatch, while it may refer to the skirmish reported by the Russian Gen. Mishchenko, indicates that the Japanese suffered severely in their victory over the Cossacks. The Russians reported that only two Japanese were killed.

The later report, showing that the Japanese lost fifty men killed, shows that the skirmish was the most serious that has so far taken place in Korea.

Kouropatkin in Command.
Gen. Kouropatkin has arrived at Liaoyang, the headquarters of the Russian army on the Yalu, and formally assumed command.

It is expected that Gen. Kouropatkin will proceed to the front at once. Reports from the general staff say the Japanese skirmishes are most enterprising and that more outpost affairs henceforth may be expected.

A naval battle followed the attempt to block the entrance to the harbor of Port Arthur Sunday morning, according to dispatches from Tokio, St. Petersburg, and Yinkow.

Grand Duke Is Wounded.
A St. Petersburg dispatch says the Grand Duke Cyril was wounded during the engagement. He is on Vice Admiral Makarov's staff, and according to the dispatch was wounded while on board the cruiser Askold. The Askold is Makarov's flagship.

A Tokio correspondent says the naval battle followed the Japanese attempt to block the entrance to Port Arthur harbor. Six Japanese warships approached the entrance and engaged Admiral Makarov's staff, with eight warships. Considerable damage was done on both sides.

Battleship Is Hurt Again.
According to a dispatch from Yinkow, Japanese shells badly damaged the forward barge of the disabled Russian battleship Czarovitch.

A dispatch from Berlin asserts that the Russian government has informed the senate that the battleship Rostizan and the cruiser Pallada have been repaired by engineers from Cronstadt, and that they resumed their positions in the squadron in the outer roadstead at Port Arthur, where they have been since March 20. This remarkable statement has not appeared in any published dispatches from Admiral Alexieff or Vice Admiral Makarov, and is contrary to independent information of all correspondents in the far East.

Togo Protects Troops.
There are conflicting reports in regard to the landing of a Japanese army in the Liaotung peninsula, north of Port Arthur.

A Washington correspondent says that he has learned from an informant in high position, which entitles his utterances to be received with great respect, that the Japanese already have a considerable force on the Liaotung peninsula, and that a still larger force will be landed as soon as navigation is less impeded by ice. Sunday's attempt to block Port Arthur had the double purpose of preventing the Russian fleet from going out and screening the movements of the Japanese transports.

Denial From the East

On the other hand, the Newchwang correspondent claims to have good authority for stating that the Japanese will not land in the valley of the Liao river before April 20, because their transports are still occupied in carrying troops to Korea. The Russian position, meanwhile, will daily become stronger, especially on its vulnerable right flank. Even Port Arthur is stronger now than it was at the beginning of the war. The outward passage of troops continues without a hitch.

A dispatch from Shanhai Kwan says the Japanese have taken soundings at Chinwangtao with the probable intention of landing an army there. Local Chinese authorities have received official authorization to hand over the plant of the Shanhai Kwan railway to the Japanese.

The work of taking people from submerged residences is still perilous in many instances, the water being twelve feet deep in some places.

At Saginaw, Mich., all the industrial plants near the river are partly submerged, 5,000 workmen are idle, the river is from five to fifteen miles wide, and 100 houses are in from four to six feet of water.

The White and Wabash rivers are receding near Indianapolis. The damage to the section in which Indianapolis is located is estimated at $2,225,000, and the damage to the north of the county will reach an additional million. The city authorities of Indianapolis resolved upon a bond issue of $100,000 to repair the damage to public utilities.

James J. Hill Sends Circular to Stockholders Outlining Plan to Comply With Court Decision.

St. Paul, Minn., March 29.—James J. Hill has sent to St. Paul from New York circulars and proxies to all local holders of Northern Securities stock. These circulars are said to disclose the actual amount of Northern Pacific and Great Northern stock which the Securities company has held. The circular reviews the fact that the Securities company held 98.2 per cent of all the stock of that company and that it also held 94.5 per cent of all Great Northern stock.

A report was heard to the effect that Mr. Harriman would refuse the tender of Great Northern stock in place of an equal amount of Northern Pacific stock which he formerly held. Mr. Hill has offered Mr. Harriman an amount of Great Northern stock equal to one-half the amount of Northern Pacific held by his antagonist, and if the latter refuses, it will place Mr. Hill in an embarrassing position.

THE PASSOVER CLOSE AT HAND

JEWIS WILL CELEBRATE THIS FESTIVAL ON WEDNESDAY.

HAS AN INTERESTING HISTORY

The Ceremonies Will Be Ushered in at Six O'clock in the Evening—Rite is Centuries Old.

The Passover will be ushered in tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock, being the fourteenth in the month of Nisan by the Hebrew calendar. According to biblical injunction it begins on that evening and lasts seven days. It commemorates the biblical story of Israel's redemption and the struggles and hardships endured by the Israelites when Moses led them from Egyptian slavery to freedom.

A prominent Jew in discussing the significance of the festival, said: "Passover commemorates the first declaration of independence ever proclaimed. 'Thy spirit, independence, let me share, lord of the lion heart and eagle eye.' The bard of these words dreamed that he unconsciously uttered the historic unadorned genius. And what feast, the annals of human celebrations and commemorations, emphasizes stronger the inalienable rights of man than our Passover? Time, that weakens everything, did not weaken the hold that feast has on the heart and the mind of the faithful Jew. It recalls scenes and memories which bring joy to the heart and tears to the eyes. Dreams of a golden, wayward youth, when God wooed and wedded, as we understand it, declares Jewish eternal independence, and its symbols and associations are meant to strengthen his heart and eagle eye. When, in the holiest concern of sublime duration, did his heart and eye fail to lead him?"

"Our psalmody and liturgy are great utterances of the Creator's overpowering grandeur, and mastery in his infinite household, and the Jewish heart overflows with gratitude for the trying, yet enviable, office assigned to it in the shaping of man's destiny. Between Egypt and Sinai grew the seed planted, which grew, spread and blossomed, overshadowing the world with her fruit-bearing branches, while her roots reach to the depths of the universe. The first Passover celebrated on the bank of the Nile was the first declaration of man's independence, and the Jew is preserved to declare it forever that as the stars of the elements and the spirit that moves them are unfettered, so is the human soul, the image of God, destined to rule herself in accordance with the pure promptings which come to her from the purest sources."

The first evening is entirely devoted to home services, called the "feeder," when the members of every family gather around the festive board, and in joy and gladness relate that portion of the bible which refers to Israel's redemption from Egypt.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark of Avon, Have a Struggle for Their Lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark of the town of Avon had a narrow shave from drowning in the turbulent waters of Sugar river on Sunday last, and as it was their team of valuable horses were lost, and Mrs. Clark was taken from the water in a critical condition. Had it not been for Mr. Clark's heavy fur coat, which acted as a buoy, they would both have drowned.

The Accident
Last Sunday morning Mr. and Mrs. Clark started from their home in the town of Avon to drive to a relative's a few miles away. They were forced to cross the Sugar river in their trip and the high water and frailty of the structure, frightened Mrs. Clark so much that she asked her husband to turn round and go back home.

Over the Bridge
Mr. Clark made ready to do this but the horses were either frightened at the frothing current or he misjudged the distance and the team backed into the river. The water at this spot was quite deep and encumbered as they were by the harness and wagon the horses quickly sank beneath the water and were drowned. Mr. and Mrs. Clark were carried down the stream for twenty rods by the current. Twice Mrs. Clark sank, but was caught by her husband in time to save her life.

The Fur Coat
Mr. Clark was wearing a fur coat and this fact probably saved his life as the heavy coat floated on the surface of the water and acted as a buoy and kept the two above the water until they reached a little sand bar and were able to reach the bank.

Current Swift
The Sugar river is very high just at present and the current is very strong. The escape of the Clarks was very narrow and many who have visited the scene do not yet see how it was accomplished, so turbulent is the water.

HOLY WEEK HAS COME ONCE MORE

Strenuous Days for Catholics—The Closing of the Lenten Period.

This is holy week and the most strenuous in church circles for the Catholics and Episcopalians. It marks the last week of the lenten time and the last three days will be days of fast, quietness and sorrow. The church bells will not toll and the sounds from the organs will cease. The churches will be draped in black and the altars will be stripped of flowers.

Holy week began day before yesterday with Palm Sunday. The first day of great significance will be Thursday, which is the anniversary of the last supper and of the institution of the eucharist. This day is also known as "Maundy Thursday," and also "Green Thursday." The eucharist will be placed out and devotions held all day.

On Good Friday no masses are read but the crucifixes are uncovered, and all day devotions held. This day will mark the commemoration of the crucifixion of Christ, and will be a day of mourning. In the evening the collection for the Holy Gravel Jerusalem will be held in all Catholic churches throughout the world. Saturday will mark the last day of lent. The services are begun early in the morning and are lengthy. At first the holy water is blessed with great ceremony and also the large Easter candles. High mass is then sung and the resurrection is celebrated. The bells peal out, the organ again plays, the Gloria is sung and great rejoicing prevails. In the evening will occur the pre-Easter services. These are fittingly and ceremoniously celebrated in the Catholic churches. A procession consisting of small acolytes, girls in white and the priest, with the eucharist proceeds along the middle aisle of the church. The services are closed with benediction in the evening.

Walter Conroy Sentenced to Year and Half in Green Bay Reformatory—Waggoner Back to Waukesha.

Walter Conroy pleaded guilty to stealing chickens late yesterday afternoon and was sentenced to a year and a half in the reformatory in Green Bay. Hugh Waggoner on the same charge was sent back today to the reform school at Waukesha. The latter is a slippery customer. About a year ago when ex-Sheriff Maltress was standing with him on the depot platform awaiting the train that was to take them to Waukesha, he suddenly broke away and dashed in front of a passing locomotive barely clearing the track before the engine was upon him. So close was the flying that the sheriff had to follow him across the rails, would have been run down. The lad escaped at the time and was only recaptured after a long chase. There have been several complaints of petty depredations lately. Last Saturday night a lantern and a pair of rubber boots were stolen from a buggy on Court street and the rail on Volney Atwood's chicken coop is the second that has been made within a short time.

TOBACCO TALKED VERY GENERALLY

WHAT IS DOING IN THE WEED MARKET THIS WEEK.

HOW GROWERS NOW FEEL

General Gossip Throughout the County on Interesting Subject of This Year's Crop.

Janesville streets were crowded with tobacco growers yesterday delivering their 1904 crop, fully seventy-five loads of the weed were delivered to the local buyers of which A. N. Jones received the bulk of deliveries. The growers in the surrounding country have at last taken down their crop, some of them finishing their work only last week. The year has been a hard one on the tobacco growers, on account of the severe cold weather and the late thaw. Local buyers in the city expect to be busy handling the weed from now until the crops are in the case and ready for the eastern markets.

Wisconsin
The attitude of buyers is one of indifference. Prices are low, about 6 cents a pound for the average binder lot, and while there is a fair amount of riding, chiefly for the purchase of last year's crop no large transactions are reported. Deliveries of recent sales are coming to the warehouse freely, but it is understood that a considerable portion of the crop has not yet been taken down from the poles. As the spring season advances, it is evident that there will be less tobacco planted this year. Growers are discouraged by their recent experiences, and there is an increasing tendency in the southern part of the state to abandon tobacco in favor of sugar beets.

Shipments out of storage from Edgerton amounted to 500 cases during the week.

New England

There is a fair degree of activity in the market. Prices, it is true, are ruling rather low, but that was expected some time ago, and buyers, as a general rule, are paying the figures stipulated when the tobacco was in the ground. Indeed there has been less friction between grower and buyer this year than in almost any season in the history of the industry. Broad leaf is fetching relatively better prices than Havana, for which the figures range from about 8 to 15 cents, and it is expected that in the latter the acreage will be somewhat reduced this year.

New York

But few sales were reported last week and there was practically no riding owing to the bad weather. In warehouses there is considerable activity, but it is not expected that the sorting will be finished before the beginning of May. Prices rule low and a number of farmers have announced their intention of discontinuing the growing of tobacco.

H. M. Decker of this city is one of the creditors of the Stauber & Froehling Cigar Mfg. The company was one of the largest in the business at Fond du Lac and was supposed to be enjoying a prosperous trade. Other creditors are Engelbert Bros. of Milwaukee, the H. Schwarzenburg Cigar Box Co. of Milwaukee, and the Schuster Tobacco Co.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs. The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle—Home of Swamp-Root, by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

For instance, if you send in 15 different spellings you must send three of the folders. Be sure and write your name and address plainly. You will find it interesting and instructive, and you are permitted to have your friends help you. By doing this you can easily win one of the prizes, which will be distributed as soon after June 15, as we can look over the list of competitors.

Here are a few ways of spelling Egg-O-See: Egg-O-Sea, Egg-Oh-Cee, Eg-O-Cy, Egg-O-Cie.

These prizes are offered to more thoroughly familiarize all with the merits of Egg-O-See, the purest and best tasting flaked wheat food. The healthfulness and great nourishing qualities of flaked wheat are now generally recognized. Egg-O-See is the favorite flaked wheat food and is rapidly displacing all others, because of its superior quality, and because a full sized package retails for 10 cents.

CHAPTER IX.
"WHAT smashed the junk?"
demanded Moran.

The desecrated Chinamen huddled around Charlie, drawing close, as if finding comfort in the feel of each other's elbows.

"No can tell," answered Charlie. "Him shake, then lift up all the same as we, blamey too much lift up. Him go all to smash. Four piece Chinamen down."

"Down! Did any of them down?" exclaimed Moran.

"Four piece down," reiterated Charlie calmly. "One, three, five, nine, come ashore." Him other no come.

"Where are the ones that came ashore?" asked Wilbur.

Charlie waved a hand back into the night. "Him make um camp topside ole house."

"That old wailing camp," prompted Moran. Then to Wilbur, "You remember—about a hundred yards north the creek?"

Wilbur, Moran and Charlie had drawn off a little from the Bertha Milner's crew. The latter squatted in a line along the shore—silent, reserved, looking vaguely seaward through the night. Moran spoke again, her scowl thickening.

"What makes you think the beach-combers want our schooner?"

"Him catchum schooner sure! Him want um boat to go home. No can get."

"Let's put off tonight—right away," said Wilbur.

"Low tide," answered Moran, "and besides—Charlie, did you see them close? Were you near them?"

"No go muchee close."

"Did they have something with them reeved up in a hammock—something that smelled sweet—like a joss stick, for instance?"

"No savvy; no can tell. Him try catchum schooner sure. Him velly bad China boy. See Yip China boy, velly bad. I b'long Sam Yip. Savvy?"

"Ah, the tongs?"

"Yass. I Sam Yip. Him," and he pointed to the Bertha's crew. "Sam Yip. All we Sam Yip; nist him. And he waved a hand toward the beach-combers' camp. "Him See Yip. Savvy?"

"It's a tong row," said Wilbur. "They're blood enemies, the See Yips and Sam Yips."

Moran felt thoughtful, digging her boot heel into the sand, her thumbs hooked into her belt, her forehead gathered into a heavy frown. There was a silence.

"One thing," she said at last, "we can't give up the schooner. They would take our stores as well, and then where are we? Marooned, by Jove! How far do you suppose we are from the nearest town? Three hundred miles wouldn't be a bad guess, and they've got the lot—our ambergis—I'll swear to that! They didn't leave that aboard when the junk sank."

"Look here, Charlie," she said, turning to the Chinaman. "If the beach-combers take the schooner—the Bertha Milner—from us, we'll be left to starve on this beach."

"I tinkum yass."

"How are we going to get home? Are you going to let them do it? Are you going to let them have our schooner?"

"I tink no can have."

"Look here," she went on, with sudden energy. "There are only nine of them now to our eight. We're about even. We can fight those swine. I know we can. If we jumped their camp and rushed them hard, believe me we could run them into the sea. Mate," she cried, suddenly facing Wilbur, "are you game? Have you got blood in you? Those beach-combers are going to attack us tomorrow before high tide; that's flat. There's going to be a fight anyway. We can't let them have the schooner. It's starvation for us if we do."

"They mean to make a dash for the Bertha, and we've got to fight them off. If there's any attacking to be done, I propose to do it! I propose we jump their camp before it gets light—now, tonight, right away, run in on them there, take them by surprise, do for one or two of them if we have to and get that ambergis, then cut back to the schooner, up our sails and wait for the tide to float us off. We can do it; I know we can. Mate, will you back me up?"

"Back you up? You bet I'll back you up, Moran! But—Wilbur hesitated.

"We could fight them so much more to advantage from the deck of the schooner. Why not wait for them aboard? We could have our sails up anyhow, and we could keep the beach-combers off till the tide rose high enough to drive them back. Why not do that?"

"I tink best wait topside boat," assented Charlie.

"Yes; why not, Moran?"

"Because," shouted the girl, "they've got our loot! I don't propose to be plundered of $150,000 if I can help it."

"Vassa datt?" demanded Charlie.

"Hunder fifteen thousand you hab got?"

"I did have it—we had it, the mate and I. We tried a sperm whale for the beach-combers, and when they thought they had everything out of him we found a lump of ambergis in him that will weigh close to 200 pounds. Now look here, Charlie. The beach-combers have got the stuff. It's mine; I'm going to have it back. Here's the lay: You men can fight; you can fight yourself. We'll make it a business proposition. I help me to 123 that, unbergis, and if we get it I'll give each one of the men $1,000 and I'll give you $1,500. You can take that up and be independent rich the rest of your life. You can chuck it and rot on this beach; for it's tight or lose the schooner. You know that as well as I do. If you've got to fight anyhow, why not fight where it's going to pay the most?"

Charlie hesitated, pursing his lips.

"How about this, Moran?" Wilbur broke forth now, unheard by Charlie. "I've just been thinking. Have we got a right to this ambergis after all? The beach-combers found the whale. It was theirs. How have we the right to take the ambergis away from them any more than the sperm and the oil and the bone? It's theirs, if you come to that. I don't know as we've the right to it."

"Darn you!" shouted Moran in a blaze of fury. "Right to it; right to it! If I haven't, who has? Who found it? Those dirty monkeys might have stood some show to a claim if they'd held to the one-third bargain and offered to divvy with us when they got me where I couldn't help myself. I don't say I'd give in now if they had—give in to let 'em walk off with a hundred thousand dollars that I've got as good a claim to as they have! But they've saved me the trouble of arguing the question. They've taken it all—and there's no bargain in the game at all now. Now, the stuff belongs to the strongest of us, and I'm glad of it. They thought they were the strongest, and now they're going to find out. We're dumped down here on this God forsaken sand, and there's no law and no policemen. The strongest of us are going to live and the weakest are going to die. I'm going to live, and I'm going to have my loot, too, and I'm not going to split five hairs with these robbers at this time of day. I'm going to have it all, and that's the law you're under in this case, my righteous friend!"

She turned her back upon him, spinning around upon her heel, and Wilbur felt ashamed of himself and proud of her.

"I go talk-ee-talk to China boy," said Charlie, coming up.

For about five minutes the Chinamen conferred together, squatting in a circle on the beach. Moran paced up and down by the stranded dory. Wilbur leaned against the bleached whale skull, his hands in his pockets.

"All right," said Charlie, coming out from the group at last. "Him fight plenty."

"Now," exclaimed Moran, "we're no time to waste! What arms have we got?"

"We've the cutting-in spades," said Wilbur. "There are five of them. They're nearly ten feet long, and the blades are as sharp as razors. You couldn't want better pikes."

"That's an idea," returned Moran, evidently willing to forget her outburst of a moment before, perhaps already sorry for it. The party took stock of their weapons, and five huge cutting-in spades, a heavy knife from the galley and a revolver of doubtful effectiveness were divided among them.

The crew took the spades, Charlie the knife and Wilbur the revolver. Moran had her own knife, a battle-disk, such as is affected by all Norwegians, whether landmen or sailors. They were examining this ornament and Moran was suggesting a plan of attack when Hoang, the leader of the beach-combers, and one other Chinaman appeared some little distance below them on the beach. The moon was low, and there was no great light, but the two beach-combers caught the flash of the points of the spades. They halted and glanced narrowly and suspiciously at the group.

"Beats!" muttered Moran. "They are up to the game. There's no surprising them now. Talk to him, Charlie. See what he wants."

Moran, Wilbur and Charlie came part of the way toward Hoang and his fellow and paused some fifteen feet distant, and a long colloquy ensued. It soon became evident, however, that in reality Hoang wanted nothing of them, though with great earnestness he asserted his willingness to charter the Bertha Milner back to San Francisco.

"That's not his game at all," said Moran to Wilbur in a low tone, her eyes never leaving those of the beach-comber. "He's pretty sure he could seize the Bertha and never pay us a stiver. They've come down to spy on us, and they're doing it too. There's no good trying to rush their camp now. They'll go back and tell the crew that we know their lay."

It was still very dark. Near the bulk of the beached Bertha Milner were grouped her crew, each armed with a long and lance-like cutting-in spade, watching and listening to the conference of the chiefs. The moon, almost down, had flushed blood red, violently streaking the gray, smooth surface of the bay with her reflection. The tide was far out, rippling quietly along the reaches of wet sand. In the pauses of the conference the vast, muffled silence shut down with the abruptness of a valve suddenly closed.

ELECTION NOTICE

OFFICE OF COUNTY CLERK,
Janesville, Wis., March 27, 1904.

To the Electors of Rock County:
Notice is hereby given that a judicial election is to be held in the several towns, wards and election precincts in the County of Rock, on the 6th day of April, 1904, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The name of the candidate for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to this office, are given opposite the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column:

INFORMATION TO VOTERS.

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters: A voter upon entering the polling place, and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk, which must have the polling place, and the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment, and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for. If it be a general election these words are to follow: The voter if he wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party, should make a cross mark, X, under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the circle made for that purpose. A ballot so marked and having no other mark, will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a cross mark be placed in the square under the name or at any place in the space occupied by the name or names of candidates in another column, and will be counted for any name written in lieu of one erased. If the voter wishes to vote for some of the candidates or different political parties he should make a cross mark under the name of each candidate he desires to vote for, or at any place within the space in which the name is printed. If he wishes to vote for a person for a certain office, whose name is not on the ballot, he must write the name in the blank space under the printed name of the candidate for the office. The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled it must be returned to the ballot clerk who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memoranda to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter. After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed endorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth, or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place. A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking the same to be chosen by the voter, and if he declares that he is totally blind he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath, in his discretion, as to such person's disability. The party designations and candidates for the different offices are as follows:

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette Tuesday, March 29, 1864.—A Call.—The German shoemakers of the city are requested to meet at the common council rooms this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

First Ward.—A. A. Jackson and Alex. Graham are nominated for aldermen; Edward Heide, Hiram Bump, D. W. Inman, Obad. Damm, Horace Dewey, and R. B. Treat were appointed delegates to the city convention. Proceedings in full tomorrow.

During Jeff Davis' late illness a great many of the rebels feared that he would die, and quite as many feared that he wouldn't.

Washington March 23.—Times' Dispatch.—The pressure for the removal of Meade is such that the president cannot no longer disregard it. Hooker is talked of as his successor. There is no probability of the passage of a bankruptcy bill.

New York, March 29.—The steamship City of Manchester from Liverpool on the 16th and Queenstown on the 17th arrived at 8 o'clock this morning.

Wanted.—Six more good boarders

Coming Attractions.

Lovers of real good old fashioned minstrelsy will be pleased to learn of the announcement of the early appearance of the Great Barlow Minstrels, who come to this city tomorrow night at the Myers Grand. This is the oldest organization of its kind on the road today, and bears the proud distinction of being the best in its particular line; their past reputation which has been fully demon-can be accommodated at the house on Court street, first floor, east of Culver's store. Enquire of Mrs. T. H. Libby.

Building Lot for Sale.—In another column will be found a card putting into the market a number of building lots. They are very handsomely located, and as may be seen can be obtained on easy terms.

An inkstand was turned over on a white tablecloth, a servant threw over it a mixture of salt and pepper plentifully, and all traces of it disappeared.

Mean souls, like mean-looking pictures, are often found in good-looking frames.

The attempt to procure the liberty of the press in France, though strongly urged in the legislative body, has proven a failure. The emperor's determination was made known at the end of a recent debate, through the president of the council of state in these words: "We do not believe that in this hour or in the presence of the great duties imposed upon the emperor's government, we can consent to any modification, whatever in existing regime of the press."

It Cured Others, and Will Cure YOU.

This does not mean that Dr. Miles' Nervine will cure every case of sickness, or all diseases.

But that it will cure all diseases that originate through nervous disorders, which include all affection of the brain, spinal cord and nerves; loss of appetite, indigestion, sleeplessness, dizziness, headache, neuralgia, fits, St. Vitus' dance, etc., a breaking down of the nervous system.

A remedy that will cure one, will just as surely cure all cases of the same nature, under like conditions. That's why we publish letters like the following—that you may know what it has done for others and will do for you.

"The worst case of nervous prostration I ever saw or rather heard of was that of a young man, a stranger, who sent me word thanking me for recommending and stating that to his certain knowledge Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure had saved his life. As to my own case, I was a fated with heart trouble and nervousness due to the excessive use of tobacco, which I had used from boyhood. A man whom your medicine had cured of tobacco habit, met me on the street in Bakersfield one day, when my feet were so badly swollen I could scarcely walk, and I was suffering constantly from smothering spells, choking sensation, pain and oppression around the heart. He told me to use Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and Nervine. I bought three bottles of each and took them strictly according to directions. By that time nearly all the aggravating symptoms had disappeared, but to make a sure thing of it I bought two more bottles of Nervine, and am today perfectly well."

Dr. Miles' Nervine

acts directly upon the nerves, refreshing and strengthening them. It is as the tired nerves, and gives rest a nerve food and tonic which soothe and tone to the nervous system.

It is sold under a guarantee that the first bottle will benefit or the drug-gist will refund your money. We stand back of this guarantee.

ELECTION NOTICE.

OFFICE OF CITY CLERK, March 29, 1904.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF JANESVILLE:

Notice is hereby given that a municipal election is to be held in the several wards and election precincts in the City of Janesville on the 5th day of April, 1904, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to this office, are given opposite the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, and the questions submitted to a vote are stated below.

Information to Voters.

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters: A voter, upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk, which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for. The voter if he wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party, should make a cross mark, X, under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the circle made for that purpose. A ballot so marked and having no other mark, will be counted for all of the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a cross mark be placed in the square under the name or at any place in the space occupied by the name or names of candidates in another column, and will be counted for all names written in lieu of one erased. If the voter wishes to vote for some of the candidates of different political parties, he should make a cross mark under the name of each candidate he desires to vote for, or at any place within the space in which the name is printed. If he wishes to vote for a person for a certain office, whose name is not on the ballot, he must write the name in the blank space under the printed name of the candidate for the office. The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled; it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot, can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter. After it is marked, it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed endorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth, or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place. A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking the same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the city. The presiding officer may administer an oath, in his discretion, as to such person's disability. The party designations and candidates for the different offices are as follows:

DYING MAN SPEAKS HIS LOVE

Druggist Proposes to Sweetheart After Thirty-two Years and Is Wed.
Manchester, N. H., March 28.—Owing to diffidence, George E. Hall, a wealthy retired druggist, kept putting off his proposal to his sweetheart until thirty-two years have elapsed. All the time Miss Jeannette Morgan, a music teacher, was willing. Finally Hall was taken sick. Fearing that he was about to die, he sent a hurry call for Miss Morgan and a justice of the peace. They came, he proposed and was accepted. The ceremony was performed and two hours later the bridegroom died in peace.

Six-year-old Blacksmith Dies.
Pana, Ill., March 28.—William Benderoth of Assumption, Ill., six years old, who had been a proficient blacksmith from his fifth birthday, is dead. He was able to shoe horses and to do all other work connected with his trade. His father is an alderman.

Will Expel Jews.
London, March 28.—A dispatch from Kishineff states that Prince Urusoff, governor of Bessarabia, has declined the Jews' petition to postpone operation of the expulsive law. All Jews must immediately remove into the interior.

WANTS TO CHANGE RECEIVERS

Stockholder Is Dissatisfied With Status of Cement and Coal Concern.
Detroit, Mich., March 28.—U. R. Loranger, one of the stockholders and former manager of the Hecla Portland Cement and Coal company, has filed a bill in the United States circuit court asking for a change of receiver. The bill alleges all sorts of lapses on the part of directors. It states that they have been wasteful in the expenditure of $800,000 and wants that amount returned to the treasury. It asks to have the Detroit Trust company removed as receiver, on the ground that it is an interested party. Attorney H. H. Hatch for the directors denied the charges. The Hecla Portland Cement company's buildings represent $2,800,000 of investments.

Correct Shoes—Their Importance

To woman the matter of dress is vitally important. Her standing and prestige in society depend in a great degree upon her dress and personal appearance. In that same degree also does the shoe affect woman's dress. No gown, however handsome, can compensate for an untidy foot. A stylish, perfect fitting shoe is essential to correct and refined dress.

It is just because this want is perfectly supplied by the "Queen Quality"
Shoe that it finds favor with particular, discriminating women everywhere—a favor so pronounced that its sale—already far and away the largest of all women's shoes in the world—is increasing at a marvelous rate.

We have the sole right of sale of these famous shoes, and we cordially invite your inspection of the new Spring Styles just received.
